PREFACE

FACTS is the North Carolina Central University fact book. It has been produced annually by the Office of Research, Evaluation and Planning since 1969. Over the years, the format and the tables have changed with the changing needs of the University. Experience and technological advances have allowed improvements in the tables and graphs that make up the book. FACTS is designed to provide faculty, staff and administration with a common core of data and information about the University which may be used in reporting, planning and proposal preparation.

In line with the goal of improving FACTS as a planning document, a new section FACTS to Support Planning has been added to the 1987-88 edition. Certain tables, particularly those in the new section and the FACTS About Faculty and Staff section are now produced on Lotus 1-2-3. We will supply copies of the files containing those tables on request. By 1988-89, we plan to have all tables on Lotus files.

Ms. Helen Faucette, Ms. Meena Wilson and Ms. Valerie Williams have spent many hours preparing FACTS for 1987-88. Dr. Brenda Rogers and Mr. Myron Dunston have assisted in planning and in preparing data for the document. Ms. CoCo Hutchison provided support to all involved in producing the book. The finished product is a further improvement over those of previous years. Congratulations and thanks to everyone involved in the production.

NORTH CAROLINA CENTRAL UNIVERSITY

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

HISTORY OF THE INSTITUTION

North Carolina Central University was chartered as a private institution in 1909 and opened for students on July 10, 1910 as the National Religious Training School and Chautauqua. The founder was Dr. James E. Shepard. Then, as now, the purpose of the institution was to provide for young men and women the sound academic training and character development necessary for real service to the nation.

The institution's early years were characterized by a wealth of enthusiasm and high endeavor, but not of money. Private donations and student fees constituted the total financial support of the school, and the heavy burden of collecting funds rested on the president.

In 1915, the school was sold and reorganized, becoming the National Training School. Mrs. Russell Sage of New York was a generous benefactor during this period.

In 1923 the General Assembly of North Carolina appropriated funds for the purchase and maintenance of the school making it a publicly supported institution. The name was changed to Durham State Normal School in that year and two years later to North Carolina College for Negroes. The mission became the offering of a liberal arts education and the preparation of teachers and principals of secondary schools.

The General Assembly then began a program of expansion of the college plant to conform to the needs of an enlarged academic program. The interest and support of the Honorable Angus W. McClean, then Governor of North Carolina, and his belief in the institution aided greatly in the promotion of this program. State appropriations were supplemented by a generous gift from B. N. Duke, and by contributions from citizens of Durham in 1929.

The College was accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as an "A" class institution in 1937 and was admitted to membership in this association in 1957.

During the 1930's the institution obtained federal grants and state appropriations for a new program of physical expansion and for improvement of educational facilities. This period of expansion continued until the beginning of World War II.

The General Assembly of 1939 authorized the establishment of graduate programs in liberal arts and in the professions.

Graduate courses in the Arts and Sciences were offered that same year; the School of Law began operation in 1940, and the School of Library Science was established in 1941.

In 1947 the General Assembly changed the name of the institution to the North Carolina College at Durham.

On October 6, 1947, Dr. James E. Shephard, the founder and President of the college, died. The Board of Trustees appointed an interim committee consisting of Dr. Albert E. Manley, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; Miss Ruth G. Rush, Dean of Women; and Dr. Albert L. Turner, Dean of the School of Law, to administer the affairs of the institution until the election of the second president.

On January 20, 1948, Dr. Alfonso Elder was elected president of the Institution. At the time of his election, Dr. Elder was serving as head of the Graduate Department of Education and had formerly been Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Elder retired September 1, 1963.

Dr. Samuel P. Massie was elected as the third President of the College on August 9, 1963. Dr. Massie came to the institution from Washington, D. C., where he was Associate Program Director for Undergraduate Science Education of the National Science Foundation and Professor and Chairman of the Department of Pharmaceutical Chemistry at Howard University. He resigned on February 1, 1966.

The Board of Trustees appointed an interim committee consisting of William Jones, Business Manager; Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, Graduate Dean; and Dr. William H. Brown, Professor of Education to administer the affairs of the institution until the fourth president took office.

On July 20, 1966, Dr. Albert N. Whiting was named fourth president of the institution. He came to North Carolina College from Baltimore, Maryland, where he had been Dean of Faculty of Morgan State College. Dr. Whiting served as chief executive officer from July 1, 1967 until June 30, 1983.

In 1969, the General Assembly again changed the name of the institution to North Carolina Central University. On July 1, 1972, the University became a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina.

On July 1, 1983, Dr. LeRoy T. Walker became interim Chancellor of the University. He had previously served the institution as Chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Recreation, as head track coach, and as Vice Chancellor for University Relations. In February, 1986, The University of North Carolina Board of Governors, at the request of the Board of Trustees of North Carolina Central University, made Dr. Walker Chancellor rather than interim Chancellor, and made the action retroactive to the beginning of his term of office.

Dr. Tyronza R. Richmond, formerly Dean of the School of Business, succeeded Dr. Walker as Chancellor on July 1, 1986. Prior to his appointment as dean, Dr. Richmond was Associate Dean and Professor at the School of Business and Public Administration at Howard University.

MISSION

The following mission statement was formally adopted by the Board of Trustees of North Carolina Central University on March 11, 1987.

North Carolina Central University is a Comprehensive University offering programs at the bachelor's and master's levels, and at the first professional level in law.

The primary mission of North Carolina Central University is to provide its students with an educational environment that will stimulate their intellectual curiosities; enhance and develop academic and professional skills; instill a sense of pride, dignity and discipline; and promote a consciousness of social responsibility and dedication to the advancement of the general welfare of the people of North Carolina, of the United States, and of the world.

Historically, the majority of the constituents served by North Carolina Central University have been black. While the University will continue to educate its traditional clientele, it will continue, and increasingly seek, to be an educational resource to all of the people in its service area.

The University community recognizes that its student enrollment will reflect more diversity in all aspects. This new diversity will constitute a major challenge in the faculty's responsibility of teaching, in research, in the development of curriculum, in the availability of programs which support learning, in the University's outreach, and in the effectiveness of its administrative units. While the teaching of students is the University's major focus, research and its application for the benefits of the broader community are vital to the mission and must be pursued vigorously. The continued development of intellectual skills and self-discipline, by all who reap the benefits of the university, comprises the core of every aspect and phase of University life.

Finally, the University makes every effort to ensure that the paths to learning at North Carolina Central University are open to all who, by their motivation, and by their achievement, hold the promise to succeed.

The following institutional and educational goals have been established for the 1986-88 planning period:

A. INSTITUTIONAL GOALS

1. To improve enrollment management procedures including identifying prospective students, developing an effective marketing and recruiting strategy, admitting students with good chances of academic success and retaining those students to graduation.

2. To develop and maintain a climate where there is a faculty commitment to the general welfare of the institution, open and candid communication, open and amicable airing of differences and mutual trust and respect among students, faculty, staff, and administrators.

3. To encourage, support and reward outstanding performance in teaching, research, and creative activities.

4. To provide administrative support for coordination of research activities through workshops, seminars, and consultation with individuals and departments.

5. To support the development and accreditation of professional schools and programs by providing priority in allocation of resources, including faculty slots and salary enhancement.

6. To develop an effective electronic communication network on campus which will provide access to administrative and academic computer services and the library computing network.

7. To develop inter-disciplinary programs which will attract mature and non-traditional students to North Carolina Central University, assuming that the greatest percentage of growth in enrollment for the next five years will come from this population.

8. To further promote an image of a dynamic, innovative institution with programs that are responsive to the needs of all the people in its service area.

B. EDUCATIONAL GOALS

1. To ensure that undergraduate students become acquainted with their cultural heritage as a framework for their understanding and relating to the existing social order.
2. To ensure that undergraduate students acquire a sense of history, and understanding of science, and appreciation of the fine and performing arts, and an understanding and appreciation of other cultures.
3. To encourage among all students an attitude about learning and intellectual work which includes familiarity with research and problem solving methods, the ability to employ critical thinking skills, the ability to synthesize knowledge from many sources, the enhancement of communication skills, the capacity for self-directed learning, and a commitment to life-long learning.
4. To ensure that all students acquire both general and specialized knowledge, thus contributing to high intellectual standards on campus and preparing students for advancement after graduation.

ACCREDITATION

North Carolina Central University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award Bachelor's and Master's Degrees.

The School of Law is accredited by the American Bar Association. The program in Library Science is accredited by the American Library Association, and the program in Nursing by the Accrediting Services, National League for Nursing, Inc. Programs at the bachelor's and master's levels in early childhood education, elementary teaching, secondary teaching, and K-12 teaching; and at the master's level in educational communications and information technology, school principalship, supervision/curriculum development, and guidance counseling are accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. All of these specialized accrediting bodies are recognized by the Council on Postsecondary Accreditation and the U. S. Department of Education.

Teacher Education programs are approved by the North Carolina State Department of Public Instruction. The North Carolina Board of Nursing approves the Nursing Program. The School of Law is approved by the North Carolina State Bar Council.

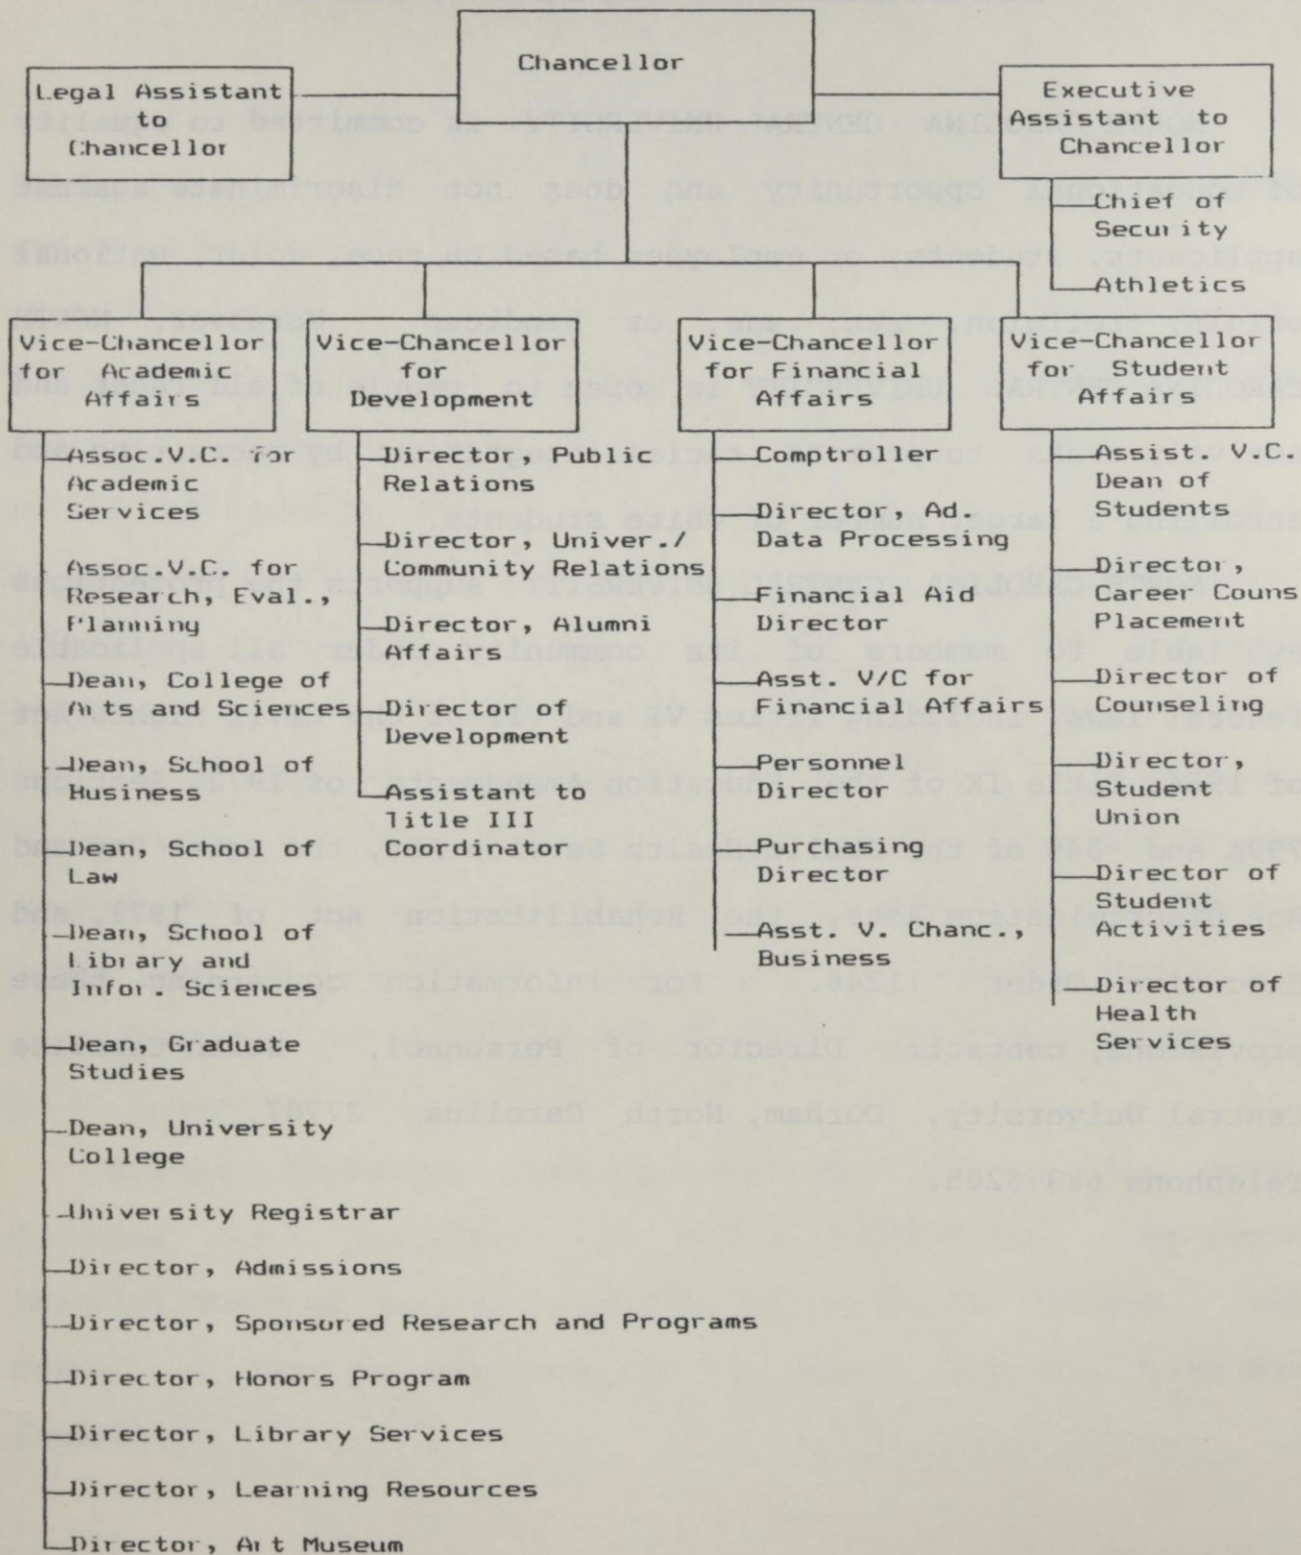

NON-DISCRIMINATION STATEMENT OF POLICY

NORTH CAROLINA CENTRAL UNIVERSITY is committed to equality of educational opportunity and does not discriminate against applicants, students, or employees based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, or handicap. Moreover, NORTH CAROLINA CENTRAL UNIVERSITY is open to people of all races and actively seeks to promote racial integration by recruiting and enrolling a larger number of white students.

NORTH CAROLINA CENTRAL UNIVERSITY supports the protections available to members of its community under all applicable federal laws, including Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Sections 799A and 845 of the Public Health Service Act, the Equal Pay and Age Discrimination Acts, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and Executive Order 11246. For information concerning these provisions, contact: Director of Personnel, North Carolina Central University, Durham, North Carolina 27707, Telephone 683-6205.
