Freedom Lies in Being Bold
III, Eres, and Ares–A Reserves Comparison

June Power – The University of North Carolina at Pembroke

About UNCP

- Founded 1887 as the Croatan Normal School

- FTE: 6500

My Role

Who Really Gets Things Done

Circulation

Who Really Gets Things Done

Document Delivery

Who Really Gets Things Done

Reserves

Faculty Expectations

- Timeliness

- Chargeless

- Effortless

- Communication

Evolution of Reserves

- III

- Through 2006

- Docutek

- 2006-08

- Atlas Systems

- 2008-present

III – Millennium

- Likes
  - Catalog integration
  - Patron integration

- Dislikes
  - Copies clunky
  - No submissions
  - No copyright
  - No process tracking
  - No course integration
  - No communications
  - File type limitations
  - No ILL/Acquisitions integration
  - Server upkeep
  - Backend

Docutek – Eres

- Likes
  - Copies
  - File type possibilities
  - Some communications
  - Hosted

- Dislikes*
  - No submissions*
  - Copyright clunky
  - No process tracking*
  - No course integration*
  - Catalog integration
  - Patron integration clunky
  - No ILL/Acquisitions integration
  - Backend

*Add on modules

Atlas Systems – Ares

- Likes
  - Copies
  - Submissions
  - Copyright
  - Process tracking
  - Course integration
  - File type possibilities
  - Communications integration
  - ILL/Acquisitions integration
  - Patron integration
  - Brandable
  - Hosted

- Dislikes
  - Catalog integration
  - Backend

Ares Web Demo

Mary Livermore Library Ares
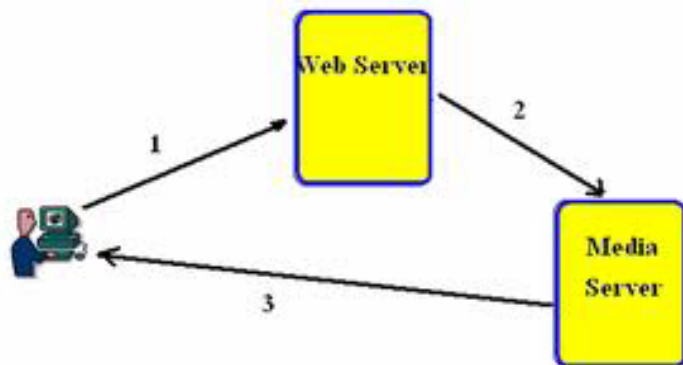

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke

- https://uncp.ares.atlas-sys.com/ares/

Find Course Reserves

Recent Accomplishments

- Streaming server access

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke

- Blackboard Plug in testing

Future Endeavors

- Social media integration

- Catalog integration

June Power – Access Services Librarian
The University of North Carolina at Pembroke

Questions?

Ideas?

june.power@uncp.edu/910.521.6369