Our story

Cooking reminds me so much of my grandmother. The kitchen was honestly her happy place, at least from a child’s point of view. She could whip up some miracles in the kitchen and made a point to make sure we were well fed every time we went to visit her. Food was her love language. When home economics pamphlets started coming across my desk to catalog, I was instantly hooked. Seeing these pamphlets filled with timeless recipes transported me back in time to my grandmother standing by the stove, stirring the latest recipe (tweaked slightly, of course!) that she got from a pamphlet similar to these crossing my desk. The nostalgia was overwhelming and I wondered how many people would experience the same thing if they saw them.

Working in digital projects as well, I knew there would be a call for projects coming up and that this would be a perfect collection to digitize. So, in 2012, after making sure Special Collections was in favor of the idea, I proposed digitizing some of the pamphlets that were in the public domain and thus could be legally digitized and put online. These included pamphlets put out before 1923, government document publications, and other pamphlets that did not follow copyright guidelines.

The physical collection was formed in 1997. Carolyn Shankle, our teammate and Special Collections Specialist for the library, pulled appropriate materials from existing collections to make what is now known as the Home Economics Pamphlets Collection. What began as a small collection grew exponentially in 2003 when Paul Hessling, the Special Collections Cataloger for the library, donated over 4,200 pamphlets to the collection. This donation helped to make UNCG’s collection rival other university collections of home economics pamphlets, such as those at the University of Iowa, the University of Michigan, and Texas Woman’s University. The donated pamphlets ranged from the late 1890s to present times. In 2008, thousands of government documents were also selected to be transferred to the collection, which expanded it even more.

Once digitization for the project began, Erica Rau, our teammate and Digitization and Metadata Technician for the library who was helping with the digitization of the pamphlets, came up with an awesome idea for how to promote the collection, which she will tell you about below. Working together, we created “Vintage Viands” to make Erica’s idea come alive. It has been an amazing experience ever since. Later on, Carolyn Shankle joined our team to promote this wonderful collection that the library holds. We now not only promote the digital collection with Vintage Viands, but also the physical collection (along with countless pamphlets that cannot be digitized due to copyright) with this partnership.

This cookbook features recipes that were prepared for Vintage Viands events as well as photographs from the events. We hope you enjoy this cookbook and remember Vintage Viands and UNCG’s Home Economic Pamphlet Collection in the years to come.

-Callie Coward
As long as I can remember I've always loved to cook. My father was such an inspiration, crafting home cooked meals for our family every night. And it wasn't just your usual meatloaf and mashed potatoes. One night it might be spinach quiche or make your own pizzas. Some mornings he'd make Eggs Benedict with poached eggs and scratch-made hollandaise sauce. He would grow Brussel Sprouts in our garden and sauté them in garlic and butter (a lot of butter!), leading to my lifelong obsession with "baby cabbages." He instilled in me a love for the kitchen and cooking that I will carry with me forever.

In the Fall of 2011, shortly after I joined the Digital Projects team, I began assisting with the digitization of the home economic pamphlets. I was immediately hooked. I would spend time flipping through each pamphlet, learning about the cooking techniques of yesteryear and thinking about recipes I wanted to try. Eventually, I did, making chocolate pudding and apple pie, just to name a few.

In the process of digitizing the home economic pamphlets, I started to wonder how the library could publicize this awesome, and enormous, collection to not only the UNCG community, but the general public as well. Teaming up with Special Collections Cataloger and Digital Projects Technician Callie Coward, we landed on the idea of an interactive exhibit featuring recipes from the Home Economic and Household Collection. And thus, Vintage Viands was born.

The "test run" of Vintage Viands took place in February 2015, and was a smashing success, with twenty-five coworkers volunteering to prepare dishes, and a pretty good turnout of students. The second event was quickly scheduled for September 2015 and, with input from students, was assigned the theme of "The 1940s." As such, participants were required to choose a recipe only from pamphlets published during the 1940s. Vintage Viands proved much larger this time around, and even received a visit from Greensboro News & Record reporter John Newsom, who wrote a great review of the event. Our latest Vintage Viands was held in September 2016, with the theme of "The 1920s." The popularity of the event was evident, as this was the largest crowd we've had to date.

The fourth Vintage Viands is scheduled for September 2017, and to celebrate local and regional cook book authors we have chosen "North Carolina" as our theme, so maybe we'll see some Eastern (or Western) style BBQ, or dishes prepared with locally produced Neese's Sausage.

1 tablespoonful sugar
3/4 cup butter, melted
4 eggs
4 cups sifted flour
3/4 teaspoonful salt
5 tablespoonfuls sugar
1 cup almonds, chopped

Dissolve yeast and one tablespoonful sugar in lukewarm milk. Add butter, eggs, unbeaten, flour gradually and the salt, beating thoroughly. This mixture should be thick, but not stiff enough to handle. Cover and let rise in warm place one and one-half hours, or until light.

Sprinkle balance of sugar and almonds over top, mix very lightly and drop into well-greased muffin pans. Cover and let rise until light, which should be in about one-half hour.

Bake fifteen to twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. These buns should be rough in appearance.

SCOTCH SCONES

2 cups flour
2 tablepsns. golden corn syrup
2 teaspoons. Magic Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon. salt
2 tablepsns. butter
2 tablespns. milk to make soft dough

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt, cut in the butter, add syrup and milk to make soft dough. Drop from a spoon in a Scotch girdle. Place on top of stove, and cook on each side.

WARTIME DROP BISCUITS

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
21/4 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted shortening or oil

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add milk and melted shortening. Then stir quickly and lightly until all flour is dampened. Drop from tip of teaspoon in small mounds on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes, or until done. Makes about 18 biscuits.
RUSKS

2 1/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons maple or brown sugar
4 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Sift together flour, salt, sugar, baking powder, and spice; add melted shortening to beaten egg and water to make soft dough and mix well. Turn out on floured board; with floured hands shape into small rolls; place on greased shallow pan close together; allow to stand 10 to 15 minutes before baking; brush with milk and sprinkle with a little maple or brown sugar. Bake in moderate oven 20 to 30 minutes.

For hot cross buns, with sharp knife make deep cross cuts; brush with butter, sprinkle with sugar and bake.

Parker House Rolls

These delightful little "individual Breads" are among the most popular of rolls. The name denotes the shape into which you mould them before the last lightening.

Dissolve yeast and sugar in lukewarm milk, add lard or butter and one and one-half pints of flour. Beat until perfectly smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place one hour, or until light.

Then add remainder of flour, or enough to make a dough, and the salt. Knead well, or "throw and roll" as shown on page 16. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place for about one and one-half hours, or until double in bulk.

Roll out one-fourth inch thick. Brush over lightly with melted butter, cut with two-inch biscuit cutter, crease through center heavily with dull edge of knife, and fold over in pocket-book shape.

Place in well-greased, shallow pans one inch apart. Cover and let rise until light—about three-quarters of an hour. Bake ten minutes in hot oven.

The crowning touch to a good dinner.

Raspberry Lemonade

Raspberry Lemonade—Boil 1 1/2 cups of sugar in two cupfuls of water for 10 minutes. When this syrup has cooled add four cupfuls of crushed fresh raspberries, juice of one orange and of three lemons, and let it stand in the refrigerator for three hours. Dilute with one quart of ice-water and serve unstrained.

Fruit Punch

Fruit Punch—Pour one cup of hot strong tea over one cup of sugar, and when the sugar is dissolved add three-fourths cup of orange juice and one-third cup of lemon juice. Strain into a punch-bowl over a large piece of ice. Just before serving add one pint of Ginger Ale and one pint of White Rock water, and some slices of oranges. Usually the melting ice dilutes it sufficiently so that no more water is needed.

You can always put into a fruit punch any left-overs of fruit juices with enough sugar to sweeten, lemon to bring out the flavor and with strong tea as a base.
